The Student Council, composed of representatives from each of the four classes, is the elective board of the democratic student government.

Responsible for the enforcement of the Honor System, and the Student Constitution, and supervision of all Student Body elections, the council this year has carried out its duties in fine fashion under the capable leadership of President John Knox and Vice-President Wyatt Aiken.

Bill Yearick

As Governing Board for all Student Christian Activities, the S.C.A. has as its purpose to aid in the development of Christian character, and moulding of well-rounded personalities of each individual student. Working towards this end, it has sponsored a highly successful program including chapel programs, the annual Christmas party, a well-rounded and improved intramural program, freshman orientation, the annual spring Student Body picnic, dormitory discussions, and a new, more personal, type of Religious Emphasis Week. Led by Bill Yearick, the cabinets activities occupied a strong focal point in campus life.

Barksdale and Dr. Jones

Composed of members of the Senior Class, the Blue Key National Honor Fraternity, taps into its membership each year men who are selected on a basis of leadership, service, and character. Membership is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a student by his fellow students at Presbyterian College.

Under the able leadership of Jim Barksdale, the chapter awarded the first Sports and Sportsmanship trophy in the program between Wofford and Presbyterian. Sponsoring such campus-wide projects as the "Polio, shot and contribution" campaign, and the fine film series placed the Blue Key in an active position during the year.

In presenting this, the PAC SAC for 1958, to Presbyterian College, I would like to emphasize that it is the combined, cooperative compilation of the efforts of a most diligent staff and not the meager ideas of an individual. To this group of staff, photographers, publishers and advisors, I extend my most sincere thanks—never has there been a more efficient organization on the PC Campus. This book was edited with you in mind—I hope that it meets with your approval.

Published weekly, the Blue Stocking presents in each issue, the campus news, timely editorials, humorous feature articles, campus interest articles of lasting impression and a complete sports section. Written and edited entirely by the students, this year the paper continued to maintain its traditionally high standards under the leadership of Lyman Harris. Ronald Bartlett was the very able business manager.

The Inter-Fraternity Council is the governing body of the six national social fraternities at Presbyterian College, and provides the basis of campus social activities. Composed of one representative from each fraternity, the Council regulates the rush program which introduces non-fraternity men to the social life of the Greek letter brotherhoods. Another key function of the Council is to sponsor several dances which highlight the PC social year such as Fall, Christmas and Spring weekends.

Miss Anne Ardrey, Homecoming Queen

PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE suffered through one of its more disappointing seasons in its distinguished football history. The Blue Hose could boast only of a 0 to 0 tie against powerful Lenoir Rhyne. The remainder of the games ended in victories for the opposing teams.

Sparking the Blue Hose efforts in the backfield were Tony Benson and Ken Webb who repeatedly turned in commendable performances despite the continual losses. Standouts in the line included Bill Bowman, Ted Leahy, Jim McLaughlin, and Mac Copeland. Among the many promising freshmen were Bruce Barnes, Don Bridges, and Hardy Ledbetter in the line, along with Billy Sease and Don Kemp in the backfield. Come next fall, these new men, along with returning veteran Richard Shrigley, should help the Blue Hose to improve upon their disappointing won-lost record of this year. The P. C. grid team will lose only seven seniors via the graduation route.

1957-1958 marked the debut of a new coaching staff, composed of head coach Frank Jones and his assistants Courts Redford and Clyde Earhardt. Already the young staff has shown conscientiousness, hard work, and determination. Through the efforts of these three men, the Blue Hose should have a winning football team in the near future.

AT the commencement of the 1956-1957 Presbyterian basketball season, there seemed to be little reason for optimism in the eyes of P. C. cage fans and followers. Gone were Dave and Bruce Thompson, who had averaged almost fifty points between them. To add to this, there was no appreciable height on the team.

The Blue Hose quintet, however, came through in superb style. Courts Redford, in his initial tenure as head cage mentor, instilled a spirit and desire in the Blue Hose that was to carry them to an outstanding season of 16 wins as compared to only 8 losses. This won-lost record represented the best overall mark in the entire state. Outstanding victories came against Furman, against Mercer, after Mercer had won nine straight, and against Belmont Abbey, after the Abbey had compiled a 22-1 record. The Hose five also recorded key little four victories over Erskine twice, and once apiece over Wofford and Newberry. P. C. was almost unconquerable on their home court, as shown by their 10 wins and only one loss. The Hose ended the season by capturing consolation honors in the Little Four Tournament at Anderson.

Forward Ralph Chambers led the P. C. scorers with a 17 points per game average, followed closely by sophomore Bob Stratton with a 16.3

average. Chambers led in rebounding as he pulled in 203. Guards Ken Caswell and Bill Sullivan, with their fine shooting and playmaking, continually added spark to the Blue Hose efforts. Clayton Adams proved himself invaluable with his backboard artistry and southpaw hook shots. Wyatt Aiken also helped with his rebounding and defensive play. Harvey Blanchard showed potential as a promising freshman. The Blue Hose, collectively, compiled an amazing 48.5 shooting percentage.

The only seniors on the team are Wyatt Aiken and Clayton Adams, so next year should prove to be another victorious one for the hustling Blue Hose cagers.

THE 1958 track team was hampered considerably by injuries and ineligibilities. A severe blow was dealt to the team when Ed Messer injured his leg. The Florida junior was considered a distinct threat in the 100 yd. dash and 220 low hurdles. Another crippling blow was the loss of frosh pole-vaulter Billy Benton due to scholastic ineligibility.

Wyatt Aiken, the team captain, was truly outstanding. The Greenville Senior constantly captured overall high scoring honors in the various meets. Wyatt participated in the high and low hurdles, broad jump, javelin throw, and high jump.

Curtis Lindner, the 1957 state broad jump champion, again proved victorious in most of the meets. Walt Marshall proved himself to be a rapid dash man. Freshman Ed Browder looked promising in the shot put. Fred Stanley was an outstanding distance man. Promising freshmen included Dick Shawn and Mac McLeod.

All in all, the P. C. cinder team lacked even more depth than it usually does. Despite this glaring weakness, the Hosemen still showed a lot of fight, and turned in a spirited performance against each of their opponents.

South Carolina State Champions—Ranked 5th Nationally

PRESBYTERIAN COLLEGE'S 1958 tennis team once again turned out to be one of the better collegiate tennis teams in the nation. John Brownlow, playing number one, was followed by Guice Potter, Jim Shakespeare, Harry Hoffman, Jim Peck, and Bob Daniel.

Highlights of the season included victories over Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kalamazoo, and several of the Ivy League schools. One of the most disheartening events of the year for the P. C. tennis team occurred when Miami, one of the nation's collegiate powerhouses, twice defeated Presbyterian by the score of 5 to 4.

The Blue Hose netmen, for the 19th consecutive year, captured the state tennis tournament, held annually in Clinton.

A special commendation should go to coach Jim Leighton and his players, as P. C. again proved to be a highly colorful and capable team.

PRESBYTERIAN'S baseball team showed considerable improvement over last year's squad. The Blue Hose displayed good pitching and a good defense, along with a fairly potent batting attack. The Hose indicated that they were capable of playing winning ball during the early stages of the season.

George Aikens and Bill Dobbins aced the Blue Hose hurling staff. Jim Newsome and Jerry Crawford, along with freshman Ken Nix, handled the catching duties. Sparkplugs in the infield were Tony Benson, Paul Chastain, and Ted Leahy. Benson was also the most effective P. C. batsman. Ed Jackson and Ray Hodge were good defensive outfielders, as well as being dangerous at the plate.

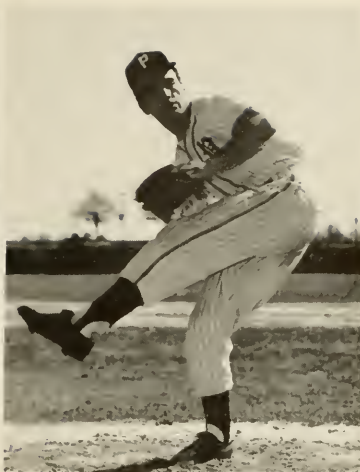

P. C. showed potential of being one of the better Presbyterian baseball teams of recent years. The pitching at times was very effective, and the P. C. diamond men were also quite capable of breaking out in a batting flurry at any time.

KA vs. Pi Kapp

THE intramural program at Presbyterian is sponsored by the Student Christian Association. It includes football, basketball, softball, volleyball, track, and swimming. As well as being a pleasant form of recreation, the program in itself provides a great deal of interest for the student body, and promotes a keen rivalry between fraternities and non-fraternity organizations.
